Window dressing styles

French Pleat Drapery

- Classic pleated style for luxurious, full look.
- Slightly more elegant, formal feel.
- Highly functional for curtains that are used often.

Ripplefold Drapery

- Highly functional, glides easily along a track.
- Perfect for extra large & floor-to-ceiling windows.
- A designer favorite for a modern aesthetic.

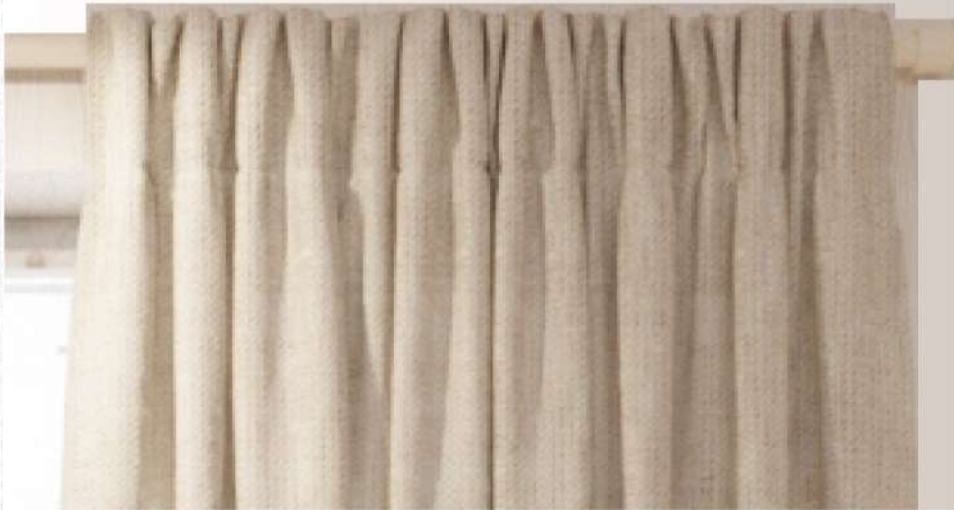

Rod Pocket Drapery

- Rod pocket curtains work well under a valance or with a sheer.

Box Pleat Drapery

- Box Pleat is formed when two equal folds of fabric are folded away from each other in opposite directions on the front of a length of fabric.

Pencil Pleat Drapery

- Pencil Pleat curtains have a soft, informal look making them a popular choice for bedrooms or cottage interiors.

Grommet Drapery

- Clean lines, perfect for modern interiors.
- Grommets make for ultra- easy installation
- Wide undulating folds show off large prints

Goblet Drapery

- Is a three dimensional fold in fabric with a bulbous shape. They are better suited for curtains that are both long enough to graze the floor and are fully lined to maintain their unique shape.

Basic Roman Blind

- A versatile shade that hangs straight and falls into neat folds as it is raised.
- Works well by itself or as under treatment for drapes.

Cascade Roman Blind

- While this roman cover the window in a structured way, the fabric falls like a cascading waterfall. When pulled up, the cascades hide under each other.
- Gives a formal and well-dressed look.

Balloon Blind

- Fully functional shade with large inverted pleats for a tailored look that is softened by billowing puffs.
- It can be used as a single treatment or in combination over drapes & under valances.

Relax Roman Blind

- A softer variation to the flat roman. The shade hangs straight and falls into soft pleats as it is raised.
- Works well by itself or as under treatment for drapes.

Piped Roman Blind

- The main structure of the Roman is kept intact, & the pipes are placed in front of the blind.

Basic Roller Blind

- Use these as a basic monochromatic theme or add a punch with bright & contrasting shades.
- Creates an uncluttered, practical & compliments your interior furnishings & decor.
